STATEMENT OF RELEVANCY

Reference AO(8-61393) on Form PTO-1449:

In an automatic transmission, first and second coupling members are constructed as a common coupling member, and first and second stopper members are constructed as a common snap ring. However, if the snap ring is fitted in a straight groove formed in the common coupling member, for example, a predetermined gap (looseness) is inevitably created between the straight groove and the snap ring. Therefore, it is difficult to manage a piston stroke of adjacent ones of frictional engagement units, and to finely control an engagement torque during a gear shift with high precision.
